Yesterday afternoon Paris was

The Health and Welfare League is filth throughout the city, beginning next Monday morning and continuing until Tuesday night. The school children are being organized and divided in squads, to which will be assigned a district in the city, and their energies centered in that particular locality.

Dr. F. M. Faries and Prof. Hendricks are organizing the boys at the white school, while Prof. F. M. Wood, is in charge of the organization of the pupils in the colored schools.

To encourage the young folks en-

Welfare League has offered two priand prompt squad and the second for the squad which does the best work.

The boys have entered into the movement with a spirit that gives every evidence of resulting in much good toward cleaning the city.

The city will furnish a wagon to be used in hauling the refuse and Mrs.
Nellie Highland has generously do-

REPORTS CONTINUE

To Reach Capital That Stanley Will Withdraw.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Reports continue to reach Washington from Kentucky that Representative A. O.
Stanley will withdraw from the race for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, despite the denial of Mr. Stanley of any such intention. The Second district member continues to be active in the campaign, and his office in this city is also the scene of much activity.

While Mr. Stanley is regarded as the best judge of his intentions with reference to the Senatorial race, yet those from Kentucky who express their real sentiments as to the outcome of the contest, persist in asserting that former Governor Beckham will win in a walk.

Reports received here are that, as a result of the impression that prevails relative to the lead which Gov.
Beckham has, it is a hard matter to arouse interest on the part of the voters in the Senatorship, unless it be on the occasion of a set speech delivered by one or the other of the candidates.

A Kentuckian, discussing the situation, said:

"Naturally, when either Gov. Beckham or Representative Stanley speaks at a certain point the enthusiasm of the hearers is aroused for the time being, and there is some local discussion of the contest, but after this temporary interest dies down the people seem to settle themselves down to the belief that Mr. Beckham will win, and believing this, can find no reason for getting excited over what seems predestined."

BOURBON PRISONERS TAKEN TO STATE REFORMATORY.

Deputy Sheriff J. O. Marshall, accompanied by Thomas Craven, H. C.
Curtis and James Gibson, as special deputies, took the prisoners convicted at the March term of Circuit Court to the penitentiary at Frankfort Wednesday morning. They were C. W.
Wiggins, George Hays, Walker Harris,
Lawson Holman, George Williams,
James Davis and Ernest Shawhan.

SHEARER MAY MAKE RACE FOR AUDITOR

The Lexington Herald of yesterday
had the following:
"The friends of W. Logan Shearer, special agent for the Northwestern Life Insurance Company, are urging him to enter the field for the Republican nomination for State Auditor in 1915. It is said that Mr. Shearer has taken the matter under advisement and will make known his position in the matter in a short time.
Mr. Shearer was formerly a member of the Kentucky Legislature from Wayne county, Monticello, the county seat of that county, being his birthplace. He was educated at Centre College."

PARIS WILL HAVE BASE BALL CLUB THIS SEASON.

Plans are being discussed by several young men of this city looking to the organization of a base ball team assured that it will be a go. The towns having independent clubs and it is also planned to secure games

PRISON BOARD LEASES FARM NEAR FRANKFORT

The lease of 460 acres in the Glen's Creek road, on the Kentucky River, opposite Frankfort, from Mrs. Gilbert
H. Mastin, to be used as a prison farm in connection with the Frankfort Reformatory, has been practically agreed upon. At a conference in Gov.
McCreary's office attended by the Prison Commissioners, Attorney General James Garnett, State Treasurer Rhea and Warden A. J. G. Wells, the lease was approved though it will be necessary for another member of the Sinking Fund Commission to approve it before the contract can be entered into with Mrs. Mastin. Another meeting will be held in a few days to ratify the lease. The lease is for two years at $3,000 the year, with an option to purchase the land for $80 an acre.

The farm lies in a bend of the river.
The Louisville & Atlantic railroad runs through a part of it. Some of the land is river bottom soil and some of it is high. There is a large residence and a tenement house on the farm.

Chairman O'Sullivan, of the Prison Commission, said: "It is well located, on the river and the railroad, and while accessible it is desirably isolated; but the high ground will afford us a good place for quartering tubercular prisoners and others that are ill.
This is one thing we had in mind in selecting a location. It is a good farm and would make an ideal location for a prison should the State ever decide to change from the hollow in which the present prison is situated. At Eddyville we have not been so fortunate. Warden Chilton already has a small farm near the town under cultivation, but we have not found what we wanted to lease. We hope, however, before the year is out to secure a large farm for the Eddyville penitentiary."

Part of the prison farm will be put under cultivation. On it food supplies for the prison as far as possible will be raised.

NEGRO SHOT; MAY DIE AS RESULT OF HIS INJURY

Jesse Hughes, of Carlisle,
Probably Fatally Wounds
Fletch Lambkin

ACCUSED MAN
LODGED IN JAIL

Claims Weapon Was Accidentally Discharged in Scuffle

Jesse Hughes, a young negro from Carlisle, last night about 8:30 o'clock, shot and probably wounded Fletch Lambkin. The shooting occurred in front of the saloon of Raliffe & Reed, and it is claimed by several who witnessed it that it was accidental.

Lambkin was employed as a porter in the saloon and came here from Carlisle. He has been living in Paris for some time. Hughes, it is said is a desperate negro.

After the shooting Hughes, who had a buggy standing in front of the saloon drove out the Winchester pike, and it was thought he was going in the direction of Winchester. A short time afterwards he returned and was taken into custody by Chief of Police Link, and he was lodged in jail by Patrolman Judy.

The bullet for the 32-caliber Winchester special struck Lambkin in the abdomen, but at a late hour last night the extent of his injuries could not be determined. Dr. J. T. Brown was summoned, but the negro made an effort to reach his office. He fell in front of the Baptist church and was later on taken to his home in Lyles-ville.

Hughes, when arrested had several cases of beer, a large quantity of whisky in the vehicle he was driving.
The horse had been hired from the livery stable of J. M. Flanagan.

MORE "BULL."

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Representative J. C. Cantrill has not yet reached a final decision as to the insurance probe, which he has under consideration. He said yesterday that the situation is one which should not be taken up hastily and that he will have to have satisfactory assurance of his ground before he will assume the responsibility for the introduction of a resolution calling for an investigation.

COMPROMISE REPORTED WITH INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Agreeing to suspend operations of the Green-Glenn insurance law, enacted at the last session of the Legislature, was the result of the conference held in Louisville Wednesday.

More than 100 risk companies which withdrew from the State following the passage of the law, likely will return following action announced at a conference held in Louisville yesterday afternoon. The Statesman represented by Gov. McCreary, Chairman Ruby Laffoon, Matt C. Clay and N. O. Gray, of the State Insurance Commission.

The compromise proposition was drafted by the members of the Insurance Commission after the allied business interests of Kentucky, represented through 18 or 20 leading organizations, made formal demand on the State authorities for an immediate settlement of the insurance controversy in order that millions of dollars' worth of property may have ample protection from fire loss.

The only concession asked by the commission are a 25 per cent. reduction in insurance rates on tobacco and a 10 per cent. reduction in the rates on dwelling houses and contents.
These reductions were practically agreed to by the fire insurance companies long before the Green-Glenn bill was enacted.

The compromise proposition will be put up to the insurance companies by a committee which will urge that risk companies send their authorized representatives to Kentucky with power to act for them in the negotiations to end the insurance war.

Laffoon submitted to the meeting a proposition by which the State authorities agree to make certain concessions in the hope that other concessions will be granted by the companies.

Advices in Louisville yesterday that the insurance companies will reject Laffoon's proposition and the Governor will call another conference for April 18 in Louisville.

PROTECTION AGAINST "WORMY" FRUIT.

The fruit crop of nineteen-fourteen promises to be a very good one. The trees have passed the winter in good shape and unless a severe freeze occurs within the next few weeks the indications are that Kentucky will enjoy a banner fruit year. The interest in the production of better fruit has been very gratifying and many orchards that have been neglected for some time past have been pruned, sprayed and otherwise put in condition.

The spray that has been applied up to the present time has been the dormant application for San Jose scale principally. Many growers who are just starting to care for their orchards feel that this application is sufficient. They should remember that this application is made more as a protection to the tree and not so much for the fruit itself. The application that is to show greater results from a fruit standpoint has yet to be made, and it is known as a codling moth spray.

The codling moth is the insect that causes the apples to become "wormy" and drop off permanently. It is safe to say that over fifty per cent. of the apples raised in the State are infested with the larvae of this insect. The moth is grayish brown in appearance and usually flies at night. The female moth deposits her eggs on the calyx end of the fruit and on nearby leaves and branches about blossoming time. The eggs hatch in from five to ten days after they are laid. As soon as the worm hatches it crawls to the nearby apples and usually enters the open calyx of blossom end.

Advantage should be taken of the fact that the worm enters the open calyx of the apple and an attempt should be made to spray the trees just after the blossoms drop and before the calyx cap closes. If the spraying is delayed too long the calyx cap closes around the worm and it is impossible to reach it with poison. This spray should be directed down into the blossom with as much force as possible.

Arsenate of lead and Paris green are the principal poisons used in combating this insect. Of the two, arsenate of lead is preferable because it adheres better and because it is not so liable to burn the foliage. It should be used at the rate of three pounds of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water. Paris green should be used at the rate of five to eight ounces to fifty gallons of water. One gallon of lime-sulfur should be added to forty gallons of the spray because of its value in checking the different fungous diseases, such as black rot and apple scab.

In this section there are two broods of codling moth in a year. The second brood usually makes its appearance from the middle of July to the first of August. The same spray as given above may be applied. If bitter rot is troublesome, Bordeaux mixture should be substituted for the lime-sulfur.

These sprayings are very important from a fruit standpoint. Particular effort should be made to place some of the material in every calyx cup. It is not so necessary to try and spray every leaf, but the operator should aim to reach all of the fruit.

IMPROVED HOUSING SCHEME IN OLD LONDON DISTRICT.

The duchy of Cornwall estate in South London, which belongs to the Prince of Wales, is being transformed under an improved housing scheme. Already a marvelous change has been wrought in the aspect of the neighborhood. Old and dilapidated houses in narrow and tortuous streets have given place to substantially designed flats and cottages, abutting on thoroughfares which have been laid out according to sound town planning principles, so that the maximum of light and air and convenience will be enjoyed by the tenants. King George has taken a keen interest in the reform.

YOUNGEST SOLDIER.

(New York Sun.)

Although the youngest soldier was killed every day or so during the Civil War, and after its close the newspapers would record his death every week or two, thousands or more of him very much alive, assembled on the field at Gettysburg at the recent reunion of the Blue and the Gray and exchanged reminiscences. Among all these candidates for the distinction who was really the youngest participant in the Civil War? Unfortunately his identification seems a practical impossibility unless the narrator of the following incidents is entitled to the honor, as he believes himself to be.

Half a dozen youngish old men were seated around a table in the cafe of a Broadway hotel discussing the Gettysburg reunion and the war of the '60s generally. Five of them had attended the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle.

"I suppose," remarked the sixth member of the group, flicking the ashes from his cigar, "that I was entitled to have participated in glorifying the soldiers of the North and South on the Gettysburg field, for I was a soldier too in '63, although I was only 8 years old."

"What?"

His five companions chorused this ejaculation in such tones that people at the other tables looked around.

"Don't get excited, gentlemen," calmly said the speaker, who had provoked the verbal explosion.

"I am not offended at your incredulity. I expected it. If you will permit me I will tell you how and why I am led to conclude that I was the first and last the only real baby combatant."

"As I have only my memory to draw upon," he went on, "I cannot give the precise date of the occurrence which made me a fighting soldier when only 8 years old."

"I was living at Bay St. Louis, Miss., on the gulf coast, fifty-two miles from New Orleans, when that city was evacuated by the Confederates. Having been born in February, 1855, I was only 7 years old when that event occurred, and, of course, only 8 years old the following Spring."

"For a year or more after the fall of New Orleans there would be stationed at Bay St. Louis for short periods a company or two of Confederate cavalry. These companies as a rule, were part of Col. Sibley's regiment. This was an Alabama regiment, but several of the officers were old friends or acquaintances of members of my family. The officers frequently came to our house for dinner—they providing most of the fare, of course, as our larder was empty—and in that way I became known to most of them."

"That is how I got to know Lieut. Hardy, and how he took a fancy to me. His home was somewhere in the interior of Alabama, and for all I know he may be living now and may read this account of an incident long since forgotten by him. When the Lieutenant was not at our house I would be somewhere near his tent in camp in a ravine a quarter of a mile from the shore. The young officer was extremely fond of soft shell crabs and I kept his mess supplied with them. In return for this attention he would lend me a carbine, with which I usually brought down enough squirrels to supply our home table."

Confederate Navy Gone.

"The last vestige of the Confederate navy had vanished from the gulf and Mississippi Sound, and whenever a sailing vessel as large as a schooner or a steamboat appeared off the coast we knew she had armed Yankees aboard, and began hiding the silver. One fair day—I think it was in May or June—I was in camp with Lieut. Hardy. He was alone, with the exception of an orderly named Stevens. Lieut. Hardy was not well, had rheumatism or something. I recollect he was limping painfully and had been left in the care of the orderly sergeant."

"Serg. Stevens had gone fishing that morning and the Lieutenant and I were getting impatient, as it was almost noon, and there was nothing for dinner except some corn pone and cold coffee made of burnt sweet potato and parched corn. It was just noon by the sun. I remember distinctly when Stevens came running up and breathlessly dropped a bunch of croakers in the little brook by which the Lieutenant and I sat. He saluted and jerked out:

"High pressure steamboat black with Yankees coming to anchor about a mile up the road!"

"The Lieutenant's horse was about twenty yards off and I was on his back before I slipped off the halter and bridled him as I galloped to the tent to which the officer had hobbled in order to arm himself. I was about to slip off the animal's back but Lieut. Hardy told me to stay where I was. Then he handed me a carbine. Stevens had galloped up by this time, armed with carbine and a pair of holstered revolvers. The Lieutenant strapped a big navy six around his waist, a weapon he had acquired during or after some previous encounter with the enemy, and with the assistance of Stevens he straddled the horse in front of me."

A Big Sternwheeler.

"We rode out of the glen where camp was pitched to the shell road that skirted around on a bluff back of a fine white sand beach in order to locate the enemy. There, just as the sergeant had said, about a mile distant in the direction of New Orleans and another mile from the beach, was a big sternwheeler like those in the Red River and the Ouachita trade. She was swarming with men and in the clear, bright sunlight we could see them preparing to lower the small boats."

"A—," the Lieutenant said to me, "do you know the way back to where they are lying?"

"Course I do, I replied.

"Then you get around here in front and we'll have some fun."

"I slid off the horse's crupper and with the Lieutenant's assistance scrambled up to where theommel of the saddle would have been. I had had hunted huckleberries and chinquapens all over those woods and had sneaked into the back yards and gardens after watermelons and oranges, so I had no trouble in locating the gunboat, as I called her, opposite the Yure place. We turned in toward the Sound back of the Yure place and I discovered that I had miscalculated by about 500 yards. All the houses had wharves running out about 300 yards into the water, with a bathhouse at the far end.

"The shell road ended opposite to where we stood and a sand road ran lumpy and crookedly for about a quarter of a mile farther, ending at the bank of a marsh bayou. The Yankees had two boatloads of men at the wharf of the last house along the road and more were coming. They were all negroes, it seemed."

"Back of us the first house was one that had just been completed when New Orleans fell and had never been furnished or occupied. We hitched the two horses in a clump of cedars and went into the house through the back door, which was unlocked."

Surprise the Yankees.

"Lieut. Hardy led the way into a room with three windows that faced the shell road. He took the middle window, with me on the right and Stevens on the left next to the road. What in the world those Yankees expected to find out there I have never been able even to surmise. Not a soul lived within a mile and a half and there was nothing worth confiscating. But there they were, about 500 of them, it appeared to me, in a long straggling line from the end of the shell road to the bath house on the wharf. They were too far off for effective work with our carbines, but I had mine resing on the window sill and was sighting straight at the brass buttons on a big black man's chest."

"Don't shoot until I say fire!" warned Lieut. Hardy.

"In a few moments—it might have been half an hour, for all the reckoning of time that I was capable of taking—they came marching straight toward us, four abreast, a blue and brass line that loomed up like a column of gigantic Ot-elios."

"Sergeant," whispered the Lieutenant, "you take the man on the right and A—, you plug that big fellow on the left."

"The officers were still forming them into line under the trees while the first file marched off toward us, taking advantage of the shade and the shell road, the sand being too deep and hot further along. They may have come there for drilling purposes, as their marching showed them to be raw recruits, but fifty-odd miles was a long way to a drill ground. They were not more than seventy-five yards off when the order came to fire. I heard only two reports, almost together, and saw two men plunge forward to the road. There was no answering fire, and we were out of the room and halfway to the horses when I looked back and saw the black troops plunging madly through the sand to the wharf and out to the boats."

The Enemy Is Routed.

"We didn't know what might happen, though, and did not stop until we were at the point from which we located the steamboat. There in security we watched the enemy scrambling out of the small boats that had not capsized in the mad rout. Hundreds of men were in the water and some must have drowned, although only one body was washed ashore so far as I ever heard. There was only a shot apiece in the carbines, but we certainly did do effective work in the fighting line. I had missed my man, I was convinced, and was very much ashamed and mortified in consequence."

"It was fully three-quarters of an hour after we had left the scene that the steamboat, which was armed with several cannon, opened fire on the empty house from which the blacks had been ambushed. The bombardment was kept up for two hours or more, but only two or three shots took effect upon the house. We boys at the bay subsequently found a couple of cartloads of cannon balls imbedded in the sandy bluff."

"One of us must have only wounded his man," generously commented Lieut. Hardy, when we finally sat down to the fish Stevens had caught and he had noticed how depressed I was."

"The Yankees never tried to recover the bodies of the dead men, and they were buried by the people of the bay."

"It was in 1887, nearly a quarter of a century later, that I was night city editor of a New York morning newspaper, when one night the makeup man handed me a note written on proof paper saying one of the printers had asked him to hand it to me. This was the note as I recollect it:

"I would like to see you after work about Bay St. Louis in '63."

Stevens Turns Up.

"It was signed 'Stevens,' with two initials I have forgotten. It recalled nothing to me, and, as we had to boil down matter for a twelve-page paper into one of six pages, I had no time to puzzle over it and dismissed the note from my mind."

"Therefore, when I was accosted the foot of the stairs at about 2:45 a. m. by a grizzled and shabby individual who called himself Stevens, I was at first nonplussed. We went into a saloon across the street, and over the glass of beer the old printer told me this story:

"I am Sergt. Stevens, who, with you and Lieut. Hardy, licked a regiment of nigger Yankees at Bay St. Louis in 1863. Of course you remember it, but you don't know the facts. I owe you an apology, and I am glad to have the chance to make it."

"I was 24 years old then, and may be you recollect how I used to show you how to put a carbine bullet through the head of a running squirrel. I prided myself on my marksmanship, and that was why I did not say anything at the time about my gun having missed fire when you and Hardy plugged the colored troops."

"Yes, sir, that's the honest truth."

The cap, the old percussion kind, you remember, failed to explode, and the bullet that should have got a third Yankee was in the carbine when I overhauled it that evening. So, as you and the Lieutenant were the only ones to fire, and as there were two darkies killed, you must have got one of them."

"I never saw Stevens after that morning. He had been subbing for the regular men in the office, and when he got his pay that afternoon he resumed his wandering."

"You win!" said each of the five listeners, shaking his hand in turn. Then they called the waiter.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, the hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Presenting This Week

The

Easter Millinery

Our Direct Importations and

Embry Hats of Greater Beauty

The presentation will demonstrate once again Embry leadership in Fashionable Millinery.

The influence Watteau and Boucher upon the modes is met in these Hats by transformations of the charming "shepherdess" Hats worn in the Petit Trianon and pictured by these artists. They are in perfect harmony with the frilled and panniered modes of dress.

Yet simplicity rules. These Hats depend for the most part upon originally and grace of line, upon beauty of color, upon the exquisite placing of the trimming. They convey an extraordinary effect of youth and of style.

Every heralded new effect—horsehair lace, flowers of tartan silks, flowers of colored glass, enameled ribbons, the lizere braids, the burnt ostrich plumes, the new tones of beetroot, fox-glove, turco, tete de negre, Chinese blues—all appear in a bewildering collection of new beauty.

We invite you to come to-day and study the loveliest Hats we have ever shown in an authoritative display of the new fashions.

She had been an invalid for the past eight years, seldom being able to leave her home, but had been confined to her bed for only about two weeks. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Doyle, and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Annie Woods and Mrs. Luke Connelly, both of this city.

The funeral was held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the Catholic church, with services by Rev. Father Eugene De Bruyn. The pallbearers were T. C. Lenihan, Frank Jacobs, Murray Higgins, Joseph Higgins, John Connell and George Doyle.

ANDERSON.
—Col. Hugh S. Anderson died Tuesday afternoon at the Lancaster Hotel, in Georgetown, where he had made his home for several years. He had been in feeble health for some time, though his death was directly due to injuries received from a fall two weeks ago. He was seriously ill about a year ago and had never fully regained his health. He was 76 years old and was born near Oxford. He had been a resident of Georgetown for twenty years and was at one time postmaster there. He was married in 1866 to Miss Elvina Allen, who died four years ago. He is survived by seven children, Robert Anderson, of Georgetown, for a number of years chairman of the Democratic Committee of Scott county, and Mayor of Georgetown; Mrs. Will Kelly, Georgetown; Mrs. Earl Ferguson, Fayette county; and Mrs. J. CARLISLE BOY TAKES SMALL POX FROM PATIENT IN PARIS

William Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper, of Carlisle, was stricken with small-pox a few days ago. The disease was communicated to the boy by Harve Kennedy, who escaped from the pest house near this city, and went to Carlisle. Kennedy was taken in charge by the Nicholas county officials and returned to Paris. It is said that he visited the Harper home in Carlisle, and where several were exposed.

THEATRICAL.

The Paris Grand.
We told you when we secured the lease on the Paris Grand Opera House that we would show legitimate attractions at the local theatre, provided we could get as good shows as Lexington gets; if not we would not show any at all.

In other words, we do not intend to put on the road shows that are playing the small towns charging big city prices when the shows are not really worth 10, 20 and 30 cents. Now we have secured the Keith Vaudeville through Mr. Charles Berryman, of the Ben Ali Theatre, Lexington, to appear at the Paris Grand on Thursday night, April 16. The Keith Vaudeville is the best that appears in the Columbia Theatre, Cincinnati, the Mary Anderson, Louisville, the Faience, New York, and the rest of the big theatres.

We will put on the Keith bill here Thursday night, beginning promptly at eight o'clock, and will use Prof. Gregg's ten piece Orchestra. The prices will be: Gallery, 25 cents; first three rows reserved at 35 cents; Balcony, including boxes, 50 cents; Lower floor, including boxes, 75 cents. The tickets are now on sale at the Alamo Theatre.

Paris people have the reputation of paying for anything that is good. We believe you will. Now is your chance to see the best vaudeville in the world and it is up to you whether you wish us to continue giving you Keith Vaudeville or not. If you want it then support it. If you don't want it it will be taken off as quick as it was put on. Paris will have the honor of being the smallest town in the country that ever showed Keith Vaudeville. Don't forget the date, Thursday evening, April 16, at 8:00 o'clock, sharp. Prices 25, 50 and 75 cents. Better get your seat in advance.

NARRATIVE OF

"Fantomas Under the Shadow of the Guillotine."

(No. 1 of the New "Fantomas" Series)

Princess Sonia Danidoff is staying at the Royal Palace Hotel, Paris, and withdraws $20,000 from the cashier's custody, placing the notes in a drawer in company with her magnificent rope of pearls. A few minutes after a well dressed stranger steps from behind the curtains and with the utmost sang-froid steals the valuables in the very presence of the Princess, and with a polite bow, hands her his card and makes a dignified exit. Upon the card the name "Fantomas" slowly appears.

The police are quickly upon the scene, but "Fantomas," true to his nom de plume, has vanished. Inspector Robert Juve is the sleuth entrusted to track the mysterious marauder. But before Juve has time to move in the matter of the Princess' jewels and cash, yet another escapade of "Fantomas" is thrust upon him to investigate. Lord Beltham is missing. Juve calls on Lady Beltham and in a man's hat finds the initial "G." With so slight a clue Juve tracks down "Gurn" (none other than the elusive "Fantomas") to his lodgings and makes the ghastly discovery of Lord Beltham's dead body in one of "Gurn's" traveling trunks, and a packet of the special "Fantomas" cards establishes the connection between "Gurn" and "Fantomas." They are one and the same man!

Three months elapse. "Gurn" has been tried and condemned to die by the guillotine. Lady Beltham's name has not appeared in connection with the case, and the story goes out that the murder was the outcome of a violent quarrel between "Gurn" and Beltham, yet she is enamoured of the gentlemanly scoundrel and sets out seeking a method of escape for him. By means of liberal bribes the aid of Warden Nibet is enlisted, and he arranges an interview between the condemned man and Lady Beltham in a house overlooking the prison. That night a new play has been produced by the famous actor, Valgrand, who acting the role of a condemned felon, adds a realistic touch by making up exactly to resemble "Gurn." At Lady Beltham's invitation, Valgrand, still made up as "Gurn," visits her at 2 a. m., and partaking of drugged coffee, is rendered incapable of action. Warden Nibet returns and takes back his prisoner—no longer "Gurn," alias "Fantomas," but the unfortunate Valgrand, who goes through all the terrible preliminaries of a criminal's execution, aye, even to the point of being led to the guillotine, before Inspector Juve makes the startling discovery that "Fantomas" has once more eluded him.

Henceforth it is to be a fight between a clever, scheming, mysterious rogue on the one hand and Inspector Juve, Chief of the Detective Department of Paris, on the other.

No. 2 in this enthralling "Fantomas" Series will shortly be on exhibition.

THREE REELS.

"JOSEPH AND HIS BRETHREN"
AT LEXINGTON OPERA HOUSE

By far the biggest thing which comes to Lexington will be the splendid pageant drama, "Joseph and His Brethren," at the Lexington Opera House for three nights, April 13, 14, 15, with matinee Wednesday, 15th.

This marvelous production is the third and greatest of the colossal Liebler Company, spectacles from the Century Theatre, New York, the companion play to "The Garden of Allah" and "The Daughter of Heaven."

"Joseph and His Brethren" is universally conceded to be the most magnificent theatrical show yet given in America. In London it is now being done by an English company headed by Sir Beerholm Tree and Miss Maxine Elliott, but next week Lexington gets the original New York production with its world of scenery and effects and the same superb cast of principals which played the piece there all last winter. There are four acts, eleven massive scenes, and a small army of two hundred and fifty people concerned in the play. Brandon Tynan plays "Joseph," that sterling stage veteran, James O'Neill, "Jacob," and the most beautiful woman on the American stage, Miss Pauline Frederick, the role of "Potiphar's Wife." Other notable actors in the cast are W. T. Carlton, Henry Harmon, Charles D. Herman, Rosina Henley, Dramatic E. E. Rose's clever daughter, Ruth Rose, and five score more of the favorites who delighted New York audiences for six months.

The story is told in the sonorous classical English of the Bible itself. The author is Louis N. Parker, the most famous playwright of the present day, who has given the contemporary stage John Drew's "Rosemary," George Arliss' "Disraeli," "Pomander Walk," "Drake," etc. The scenery is beyond all description. So massive, beautiful and intricate is it that a force of one hundred men are necessary for its handling. There are herds of camels, oxen, asses, goats, horses and sheep. There is a ballet corps of twenty-four dancers. In the wonderful palace scene in Pharaoh's court, "Joseph and His Brethren" is the last word in modern stagecraft and spectacular drama. During its engagement at Lexington the evening performance will begin at eight o'clock sharp, and the matinees at two p. m. Seats may be ordered by mail if remittance is enclosed together with a self-addressed stamped return envelope.

Prices 50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.50, $2.00. (adv)

CATARRH OF THE THROAT

Is Liable to Produce Catarrhal Deafness

CLARENCE BOWMAN.

A Case of Catarrhal Deafness.

Mrs. Wm. Bowman, R. F. D. 1, Coon Rapids, Iowa, writes:

"Some time ago I wrote you about my little boy, Clarence, five years of age. He was troubled with his ears. They were very sensitive to the touch, and he was quite deaf at times. He seemed to be worse after catching cold. I had taken him to doctors, but they did not seem to be able to relieve him, and I was very much afraid he would lose his hearing entirely. He was getting more deaf every day.

"I wrote to you for advice, and you prescribed Peruna. I began giving it to him, and can now say that he is entirely cured. He is now well and hearty and can hear perfectly."

Catarrh Causes Many Diseases.

Many diseases are caused by taking cold. A cold is very likely to settle in the nose, causing nasal catarrh. It may settle in the upper part of the throat, called the nasal pharyngeal space. In this space are two little tubes, called eustachian tubes, that lead to the middle ear.

If the catarrh settles in the pharyngeal space it may follow the mucous membrane through the eustachian tubes into the middle ear. If it does it will cause noises in the ear, and later on be sure to cause deafness.

Catarrh of the throat may follow the eustachian tubes up into the middle ear without causing much concern on the part of the patient. The partial loss of hearing is apt to be overlooked. A person may lose half his hearing before he knows it.

For instance, suppose a man can hear his watch four feet from the ear. If he loses his hearing to the extent that he can only hear the tick of his watch two feet from the ear he may not suspect it at all. His hearing is good enough for ordinary purposes. He goes on without the slightest suspicion that he is losing his hearing. He may have ringing in the ear, or cracking and snapping sounds in the ear, or a feeling of pressure in the ear, but he is not aware that he is losing his hearing.

Testing the Hearing.

It is a good thing to test your hearing with a watch. First hold the watch against your ear, then move it gradually away from the ear and see how far away from the watch you can actually hear it tick. Try it on the other side and see if both ears are alike. If you find that you are unable to hear the watch on both sides alike and at a distance of four feet from the ear, you may know that deafness has already begun. You should begin taking Peruna at once. Gargle the throat with cold, strong salt water, as directed in the "I'lls of Life," sent free by Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. Persist in this treatment until a cure is effected.

The Best Way to Gargle.

Sometimes catarrh of the nasal pharyngeal space will cause an accumulation of secretions in the throat, that completely fill the space. Unless these secretions are promptly removed by frequent gargling polypi may be formed. Once formed the polypi or adenoids, as they are sometimes called, will require a long time with the gargling to remove. Gargling according to the proper method will sometimes remove polypi or adenoids, and no surgical operation is required.

In order to understand exactly what is meant by proper gargling send for a free copy of the "I'lls of Life."

During the whole course of gargling Peruna must be taken according to directions on the bottle.

People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

REV. THADDEUS S. TINSLEY ON DANCING, GOOD AND BAD.

Following is a liberal digest of a sermon preached Sunday, March 22, by Rev. Thaddeus S. Tinsley, pastor of the Christian Church at Midway, Ky., in which Mr. Tinsley takes rather a liberal position on the question of dancing and the church's attitude toward it:

Approve dancing? Many times, "no." Sometimes, "yes." What the ratio of no and yes? Nine to one. Even that depends. The environment determines. To be exact, the ratio of censure and sanction is governed by the ratio of good and evil in any given community. Some places are always good; some are always bad; while most places are mixed.

Soul Sense Our Safety.

We must of necessity cultivate the power of moral discrimination. It is expected of us, even required of us by the holy apostle, that we be of those "who by reason of use have their sensus exercised to discern both good and evil." Heb. 5:14. Soul sense is our need. And our soul senses must be used if they are to give good service. Personal soul sense is to guide us, not sanctified synods. Reason, not rules. Rules are not now used even in the kindergarten of modern educational systems. The child is taught to judge, to use sense. Even "horse sense" will pick out the clover and reedtop and let the weed and briars alone. "Do you not know that the saints will judge the earth? And if the world shall be judged by you, are you unworthy to judge the smallest matters? Know you not that we shall judge angels? How much more the things that pertain to this life?"

Dancing in the Bible.

We have "Dancing Good and Bad" in the Bible. It is mentioned many times with censure and many times with sanction. What beautiful imagery is given in the event when Miriam, the prophetess, the sister of Moses, went out with all the women of Israel with timbrel and dancing! See the beautiful spectacle and hear the timbrel and song:

"Sing ye to the Lord,
For He hath triumphed gloriously;
The horse and the rider
Hath He thrown into the sea!"

Then follows an event of censure. Moses was so offended with the idolatrous dancing of Israel under the leadership of Aaron, when the Golden Calf was lifted up, that he threw down the tables of the Decalogue and broke them. Good and bad seems to have been the mixture of ancient Israel. Here is the sanction of Oolomon, "There is a time to dance." And there is the censure of Job, "The children of the wicked dance. Here is the sanction, even the exhortation of the Psalmist, "Praise Him with the timbrel and dance." Psalms 150:4. And yet again, "Let them praise His name in the dance," Psalms 149:3.

And the dance was mixed with good and evil in the times of Jesus and the New Testament. We can but feel the censurable conditions of the dancing of the daughter of Herodias. It gave sensual delight to the wicked ruler and its gruesome issue was "The head of John the Baptist on a charger." But here is the picture story of Jesus with dancing mentioned with all the manifest conditions of sanction. It is even in the "Father's House" on the occasion of the return of the prodigal. "As he came and drew nigh unto the house, he heard music and dancing."

Using Our Spiritual Senses.

As we can safely judge the censurable and sanctioned dancing of the Bible, so may we as safely judge the "Dancing Good and Bad" of our own time and customs. To judge is not to follow a mental rule of indiscriminate sanction, nor yet of uniform and everlasting censure. It is not to follow the "nod and beck of superiors." It is not to carry in the pocket, nor yet in the memory, the Little Book of Discipline. Ah, things more real! pertain to the Christian life! Christians are "Kings" and priests unto God, and not so many dancing dummies attached to the orthodox battery of ecclesiastical church government. Our leaders and teachers can help to cultivate Christian judgment; and this they do, not by judging for us, but by teaching us to judge with personal discrimination and decision. "By reason of use" is the suggestion and method of the New Testament. We become sensible by using our senses.

Beautiful Dancing.

Much of our modern dancing, to me, is both good and beautiful. First, there is the dancing of our little children. How sweet and beautiful it is! God has so much to do with it. It is God's young life and God's blessing of joy that gives rhythm to both the motion and music of happy feeling. I was reared in the beautiful country. I have seen flocks of lambs skip and run and play. I like to see God's little lambs, the happy children, skip and dance and play in summer park or winter parlor. Second, I most heartily approve of the guileless dancing of young men and maidens chaperoned and loved by congenial parent or guardians. Oh, to be young! But a hundred Oh's to be pure hearted and simply happy.

Some one has said that "Dancing is the purest and deepest delight of young people." It must be so, giving grace to bearing and silent music to motion. I can believe that the angels dance in Heaven! Better and safer a hundred times over that our young people should be dancing in the parlor than sitting on divans in the custom of modern parlor courtship! Better and safer a hundred times over that our young people should gather in congenial parties where both the dancers and observers are selected than that they be alone in couples in the too often uncomplained-of custom of modern buggy riding and autoing, or that they be riding two to three deep on their way to an annual revival.

Safeguards of Dancing.

Just take the time now to thoughtfully compare these customs and count on your fingers the safeguards of parlor dancing as against parlor courtship or buggy riding. Or compare the modern dining room dancing party with the uncomplained-of yet infamous custom of many otherwise scrupulous parents who allow parlor courtship where two young people are left alone for hours without the infinitesimal idea that their presence may be disturbed by another. With the lust devil, to be sure, "Two's company and three is a crowd." Hold before you, as your two hands, parlor dancing and parlor courtship and count on your fingers to be sure the safeguards of the former. (1) Always more than two, the music accompanist, and nearly always admiring friends and onlookers. (2) There is healthful engagement of physical energies, whereas in the latter this is wanting. (3) If an "idle brain is the devil's workshop," it is more certain that idle, youthful energy will run to Satan's service. (4) Personal contact is not so dangerous in motion and by music, for it is not the psychological point of attention. In the other it is too often the direct result of volition and the sole point of attention. (5) The evening passes quickly in healthful action and happy engagement, and the young people part with a zest for their pastime and wholesome slumber will soon embrace them. Are these not all incontrovertible conditions and should we not change our wooden mode of thinking and engage our willing exhortations and ministries against the greater dangers?

The Bad Kind of Dancing.

Still, we must confess that there is much of our modern dancing that is both bad and ugly. If there is art and beauty in the one-step the Maxixe and the Tango, the jocularities of these things in their countless awkward imitations make one to feel that it would have been better had they never been born. The thing that will most cruelly murder all sense of the aesthetic; the thing that makes you ashamed of your human kind and feel like apologizing to the monkey world for the doctrine of evolution; the thing that sickens and saddens and seals the fate of all hopeful expectations of man's social culture, is the fat, flouting and farcical imitations of these artistic dances, done by the blockheads who spend the summer at popular hotels and imagine that they are engaging to the public. Obesity is always so obliging!

Again, the open public hop is to be avoided. Here you get an aggregation of the vulgar. The onlookers are apt to be vulgar. The evil eye is present and the vulgar remark. All sanctioned dancing is either an art or a pastime. Let artistic dancing yield to the governing rules of all artistic presentation. Let this be inviolate to the professionals, and the stage to the proper place for its presentation. Our pastime and recreation should be as exclusive as our associations and friendships.

The ballet dancing of the stage needs reformation. The attire will be more beautiful when it is more chaste and decent. The groupings, the movements, the representative descriptions of the presentations of the artistic platform will have to conform to the best of our ideals of art and culture.

Key Words.

Let me close now by giving you the principles by which we may judge the good and evil of modern popular amusements. These principles are adaptable and comprehensive. They will help you in all questions of personal discrimination and decision. The question of Novel Reading, Good and Bad; the question of Theatre Going, Good and Bad; the question of Card Playing, Good and Bad; as well as the question of Dancing, Good and Bad, or anything else Good and Bad that becomes a question in your moral thinking of Christian deportment. Here are the principles and the key word that will easily associate and hold the principle for you:

GOD—Good will cultivate the sense of God's presence and approval. Evil will destroy it. Your faith in God will help you.

SOUL—Good will improve and enrich your soul's experience. Evil will injure an impoverish it. Your faith in your soul will help you.

RELIGION—Good will always harmonize with religion. Evil is always discordant. Your faith in religion will help you.

BIBLE—Good finds its natural outflow from the Bible. Evil is the suggestion of Satan. Your faith in the Bible will help you.

CHURCH—Good is always congenial with the true church. Evil is enemy of it. Your faith in the church will help you.

JUDGMENT—Good will prepare you for the final judgment. Evil will make you fear it. Your faith in the judgment will help you.

ETERNITY—Good gives you Heaven both here and hereafter. Evil gives Hell both here and hereafter. Your faith in Eternity will help you.

God, Soul, Religion, Bible, Church, Judgment, Eternity; these are all key words for young Christians—in fact for all Christians.

"Be a Freeman! On to Duty! Raise the world from all that's low; Hang high in the Social Heaven Virtue's fair and radiant bow!"

Westbrook, Me. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial."

— Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis. — "At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases.

SPRING LAXATIVE AND BLOOD CLEANSER.

Of all interpretations of various roles last season in New York City, none received higher commendation than that of Madame Nazimova, for her portrayal of "Mrs. Chepstow," in James Bernard Fagan's adaptation of "Bella Donna." In the delineation of this somewhat unpleasant heroine by the distinguished Russian actress she has scored a positive triumph. Chas. Frohman has made an elaborate and handsome production for "Bella Donna." With her New York company of capable players, Nazimova comes to the Lexington Opera House Thursday, April 16. (adv)

NEWS OF MILLERSBURG

Mrs. O. M. Johnson is visiting relatives in Cincinnati.

Messrs. B. A. Neal and J. J. Peed continue about the same.

Mrs. Rhoda Conway left Monday for a visit to relatives in Lexington.

Mrs. Elizabeth Powling is spending several weeks at Hot Springs, Ark.

Miss Edwina Ammerman is spending the Easter holidays with relatives in Cynthiana.

Rev. and Mrs. Alex Sanders were guests of their daughter, Mrs. W. G. Bailey, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Martha Vincent left Thursday for a ten days' visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Munzing, at Maysville.

Mrs. J. H. Burroughs, who has been quite ill for several weeks, was able to be out Tuesday for the first time.

Rev. A. S. Venable left Tuesday for Grayson, to attend the Ebenezer Presbytery of the Southern Presbyterian church. He will return in time to conduct regular services in his own church Sunday, at which time there will be a sacramental service.

Mrs. America Butler will leave Saturday for a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Mattie Hawes and family, at Chicago, Ill.

Miss Ann Woods left Wednesday for the Good Samaritan Hospital, at Lexington, for treatment of her eyes by Dr. Stucky.

R. Slater Hawkins, who is attending school at Transylvania University, Lexington, was at home from Saturday until Monday.

Quite a number of the young ladies of the M. F. C., and a few of the M. M. I. students are spending the Easter holidays at their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wilson, Sr., will leave Saturday for a few days' visit to her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Wilson, at Robinson Station.

Miss Nancy Whaley, of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, at Richmond, was at home from Friday until Tuesday.

Mrs. Frankie Collins, who recently underwent an operation on her eyes at the Good Samaritan Hospital, in Lexington, returned Tuesday very much improved. Another operation may be necessary.

The Bible Class of the Presbyterian church will entertain in the basement of the church on the evening of April 16. There will be several addresses delivered, followed by a banquet.

The recital in music and expression at the M. F. C. Thursday was good and well attended. The young ladies did their work in a creditable manner. This is the last of the recitals before the commencement exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Barton entertained forty of their friends Tuesday evening from 8 to 12 with progressive euchre. The occasion was a delightful one. There were ten tables, but no prizes were given. At 10:30 a delightful meat and salad lunch was served. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. J. Ryan, of Cincinnati, Miss Freas, of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Sue Woods, of Stanford.

Mr. J. Clarke Leer received his second degree in Amity Lodge No. 40, F. & A. M., Tuesday night. The work was done by Worshipful Master J. B. Cray. Notwithstanding the inclement weather a large crowd was present. At the close of the work to the surprise of all present, Mr. Cray asked them to retire to the dining room, where oysters were served. This coupled with the smoker that followed which was also a surprise, made the evening one long to be remembered.

An M. B. A. lodge was organized here Tuesday night by Mr. C. B. Van Arsdall, who has been here for some time working it up. The outlook is flattering, as it was organized with twenty-five charter members. Immediately on its organization the following officers were elected: Dr. J. D. Calhoun, President; Mackey Grimes, Vice-President; Charles C. Clarke, Secretary and Treasurer; Miss Edna Mitchell, Chaplain; Earl S. Barton, Conductor; Dr. J. D. Calhoun, Lodge M. D.; M. H. Mitchell, Inside Watchman; O. G. Custer, Outside Sentinel; Trustees, Mackey Grimes, E. S. Barton, Jas. W. Miller.

Mr. C. W. Corrington will return from Cincinnati today.

Mildred, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Collier, is ill.

The agents of the Hurst Home Insurance Co. held a meeting in the office of the Company yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hawkins have moved to rooms in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron McConnell.

Miss Alma Duke Jones, a student at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, will give a piano recital in the auditorium of the Millersburg Female College, Saturday evening, April 18, at 8 o'clock. Miss Jones will be assisted by Miss Esther Thiele, vocalist. After graduating from the musical department of the M. F. C. one year ago Miss Jones entered the Conservatory and has made rapid progress. She is very entertaining and accomplished. The recital will be given under the auspices of the McDowell Musical Club. It is urged that seat reservations be made early.

For some time Dr. C. C. Fisher has been talking of building an annex to the M. F. C. Those who were inclined to be skeptical did not think that he meant anything, and that if he did it would be in the far dim distance. However, it is now an assured fact. The building is to be erected, a handsome four story pressed brick front with stone trimmings, one hundred feet in length by seventy in width, removed thirty feet from the main building. The two are to be connected, enclosed in glass, and will furnish another beautiful conservatory for flowers. The greater portion of the lower floor of the building will be occupied as the gymnasium, with a swimming pool in the rear, and it will run to the height of two stories. The third floor will be taken up with society halls, art halls, and music rooms, and the fourth made up of dormitories. When the new building is completed and equipped the Millersburg Female College will have no superiors and but few equals in Kentucky. Dr. Fisher has not stopped with this. Two months ago he had a landscape gardener to visit the grounds and make blue prints for flower beds and shrubbery. On Tuesday and Wednesday of the present week these beds and the shrubbery were put out by experts. All of these new improvements will tax Dr. Fisher very heavily, but as the reputation of the M. F. C. is now so universally wide spread it is absolutely necessary that it be done.

TO KENTUCKY BUSINESS MEN.

Business interests in Kentucky must rely on themselves. Their principal city newspapers are abusing both the Glenn-Greene law and the fire insurance companies alike. Some of their Congressmen are advertising their incompetency by talking of Congressional intervention. Under Supreme Court decisions Congress is further off from fire insurance in Kentucky than China. The last group of companies trying to operate in the State was forced out by Chairman Laffoon's foolish order Tuesday. All words, words, words—no insurance. The papers out in the State seem to understand the situation better, but business men must rely upon themselves. They know that insurance or any other companies doing business would not quit the State if they saw a fair chance of operating at a reasonable profit. Some managers might be foolish, but not all. When they see nothing but hardship and no chance for profit all businesses stop. That is the situation with respect to fire insurance in Kentucky. The new law seems ideal for politicians and people who have no property at stake. If ideal for business, then companies would be falling over each other to get in; as it is they are falling over each other to get out. Chairman Laffoon threatens State insurance! Newspapers threaten Federal intervention! Words, words, words, but not a dollar's worth of insurance. Let business men insist upon Mr. Laffoon coming down from clouds of eloquence and getting down to the brass tacks of business. It's time for business sense not for grotesque political anti-corporation advertising! Today the insurance companies are getting the hot end; tomorrow it may be your corporation.—[The Insurance Field.]

URGENT ESTABLISHMENT OF SANITARIUM IN NICHOLAS

A special dispatch from Carlisle says:

"Ladies representing the Nicholas County Health League appeared before the Nicholas Fiscal Court and asked that Nicholas county be declared a tuberculosis district. This is the first step taken to establish a sanatorium in Nicholas county. It is the plan of the women who are working to secure a tuberculosis sanatorium to have Nicholas county declared a tuberculosis district in order that a vote may be taken to raise money for the building and equipping of a hospital. One of the plans on foot is to have Nicholas, Robertson, Fleming, Mason and Bourbon or Harrison counties co-operate in establishing a hospital at Parks' Hill."
